

productinformation saddle rack

With its unique climate zone it offers the best way to store riding saddles. Here the saddle and saddlecloth can dry off excellently, because with the spatial separation the saddlecloth no longer remains under the saddle, but lies on the lower stirrups. The leather is protected from waterlogging by the horse sweat, thus preventing the resulting mildew. The special thing about this is that not even the blanket has to be removed from the saddle. The handling is very easy. To take the blanket off, simply drop it onto the lower stirrups and at the same time push the saddle onto the upper shelf. This is quick and easy. With this type of storage the shape of the padding is retained, as all padding is completely free. The functionality as well as the stainless steel version in V2A underline the special quality of this high-quality saddle holder.
